President hits media for stress on negative

PRESIDENT Aquino's approval and trust ratings slid but remained at high levels, according to results of a nationwide survey conducted last month.

Pulse Asia Inc. reported yesterday that eight in every 10 Filipino adults approved of Mr. Aquino's performance and had faith in him.

His approval rating last month declined 9 percentage points to 79 percent from that in July, while his trust rating slid 3 percentage points to 66 percent.

Fresh from his trip to Japan, the President said the drop was expected because his administration faced many challenges, including the Aug. 23 bus strike in Manila, since he took over in June 30 from the Arroyo administration.

"Of course, that might have something to do with the Quiroga scandal issue," Mr. Aquino later told reporters, re-

Japan offers to invest $5B in PH

By TJ Burgois

PREMIER FROM a working visit in Japan, an exuberant President Aquino yesterday announced a windfall of investment offers worth $5.45 billion, including the construction of a bioethanol facility and expansion of power plants.

Mr. Aquino reported a mid-sum $2.85 billion in new investments and $2.6 billion in yet-to-be-firmed-up. Investors include three Japanese investors whom he met in Yokohama before attending the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) leaders' summit.

"What kind of message do I want to impart to our countrymen? Indeed the situation is getting better and better. More and more investors are making bigger investments in the country," he said in his arrival speech.

2 apostles of change grapple with rising discontent

TWO PRESIDENTS, both elected as apostles of change, attended the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) summit in Yokohama, Japan, with rising hopes for the future and growing discontent at home.

With US President Barack Obama increasingly perceived to be losing popular support following his party's loss back in the US midterm elections, President Aquino is receiving torrents of unsolicited advice on how to save his own presidency by learning the lessons of the American people's disillusionment over Obama.

A Malacanan spokesperson has quickly reacted that the comparison is baseless. Obama has been in power for 22 months. Aquino barely five months. The response was quick but had little substance, thinking behind it.

Bus strike strands thousands in Metro

By Mike Mambela, Paolo G. Montecillo and Julia M. Aurelio

OPERATORS calling for the scrapping of a number-cutting scheme kept their buses off Metro Manila streets yesterday, stranding thousands of commuters, but major road networks remained jammed.

The Metropolitan Manila Development Authority (MMDA) said more than 50 percent of the about 3,000 buses normally on the streets on Monday disappeared but accused that the scheme would be pursued.

In the worst affected area on Commonwealth Avenue in Quezon City, some 3,000 commuters were stranded for hours until the MMDA fielded 120 of its own buses.

The Philippine National Police dispatched six trucks and the military's National Capital Region Command sent six 31 trucks to transport commuters. By midday, officials said the ARLINGTON, Texas—By early Sunday, Manny Pacquiao looked more like a beaten fighter than a late-career one. Stripes dotted his face above a lip lacerated by Antonio Margarito. He gripped the referee's shoulder, his left hand swollen some twice its normal size.

Pacquiao era in boxing ending

After capturing perhaps his second night title in eight weight divisions, Pacquiao needed assistance climbing down the podium steps following his seven-round conference. Pacquiao, a congressman in the Philippines, looked every bit the battered boxer, but his attention had already turned to politics.

From a slender question about a potential Mayweather bout with Floyd Mayweather Jr. seemed to stir him. Pacquiao

Long wait for justice in massacre

A MUSEUM close to the center of the country's worst political massacre is intimidating and attempting to lull witnesses while dragging out court proceedings, rights groups and victim relatives say.

Almost 12 months since the Aquino family allegedly orchestrated the murders of 57 people to stamp out a political rival's electoral challenge, family members of those killed fear the trial could drag on for years.

"In my heart I want to forgive, but we need to have justice served. They have to pay for what they did to us," said

PH at 'extreme' risk from terror attacks, says study

LONDON—Somalia is the country most at risk from terror attacks after devastating Iraq, Afghanistan and Pakistan, according to a new study published on Monday by a British global risk advisory firm.

The United States is placed at 23rd, ahead of France, ranked 44, and Britain, ranked 47, according to the Terrorism Risk Index calculated by Singapore.

Nations assessed, including the Philippines, Colombia, Thailand and India were deemed to be at "extreme" risk of attacks, while Iran, Nigeria, Spain and Burma (Myanmar) were all classed as "high" risk countries.

The index was calculated using information on the frequency and intensity of such attacks between June 2009 and June 2010.

Indonesia, which suffered 100 terror attacks and 1,437 deaths during the same period, came a little in each the rankings of the Shady Island group, who have assumed responsibility for several bombings. AFP

113 Filipino workers repatriated from Lebanon

By Jerry S. Eustacio

A TOTAL OF 113 overseas Filipino workers (OFWs) from their abusive employers in Lebanon, were yesterday repatriated to the country.

They were sent at the Ninoy Aquino International Airport by Vice President Jejomar Binay, who is also President Aquino's adviser on OFWs, the sign Undersecretary for Migrant Workers Affairs Eusebio Gonzales Jr., and staff members of the Overseas Workers Welfare Administration.

The first batch of 90 arrived in the morning on a flight from the Middle East. The second batch of 23 came in the afternoon, while 50 others were scheduled to fly back to Manila today.

Binay's repatriation were escorted by Embassy officials, office of the ambassador or national office of the Philippine Embassy in Beirut.

The Philippines has banned the deployment of OFWs to Lebanon, Ambassador Gilbert Singsap said the embassy "strongly backs" the repatriation of OFWs here.

"With the cooperation of Lebanese authorities, we are committed to ensuring the expedited repatriation of Filipinos in Lebanon here," he said.

The Lebanese government waived the repatriation costs, said the Department of Foreign Affairs, which shouldered the airfare plane fares.

Most of the involved OFWs had worked at the embassy-attached Filipino Workers' Welfare Center.

91-day T-bill yield plunges to 1.48%

Rate on 1-year gov't securities slides to 2.394%

By Ronald M. Domingo

THE YIELD on the benchmark 91-day treasury bill fell yesterday by 192 basis points (or 1.92 percentage points) to an average 1.48 percent as interest rates on government securities plunged across the board.

The yield on the 182-day bill was down 15.6 basis points to average 1.802 percent while that on the 264-day paper fell by 175.1 points to 2.394 percent.

Joseph Pineda / Treasury

Kilinda S. Blandino said that was the first time that the yield on the benchmark treasury bill went below 2 percent since it started trading last in 1995.

"The entire economic funda-mentals that influenced falling yields in the past few sessions are still persisting," Blandino said. "There should be the reason for [Monday's] results."

He was referring to budget deficits—which ended at an average 4 percent in the 81 months to October—as well as unchanged policy rates at the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas and the very liquid financial market.

The Bureau of the Treasury noted a total of P7.7 billion of was sold.

In yesterday's auction, investors were ready to invest P12.11 billion or 12.06 percent of the P1 billion worth of three-month bill on offer. They ended P18.08 billion or seven times the offering of P2.5 billion for the six-month bill, and P14.91 billion or four times the offer of P3.6 billion worth of year-long debt paper.

Total tender for all three maturities reached P40.05 billion or more than six times the total offer of P7.7 billion.

Metro Pac buys Sobrepeña stake in MRT 3

By Daniel C. Domingo

METRO PACIFIC Transportation Corp. has gained a foothold in the mass transportation business with a bid to take over the 30-percent stake of the independent P10-billion Corp. in Metro Rail Transit 3, which operates Metro Manila's bus-railway system.

In a disclosure to the Philippine Stock Exchange, MTRC said it entered into a "cooperation agreement" with P10-billion on the latter's rights and interests in the MTRC 3 company. Metro Pacific Transport Holdings Inc., Metro Rail Transit 3 Inc., Metro Rail Transit Corp. (MTRC), and Metro Pacific Rail Corp.

It was not disclosed whether the "cooperation" agreement would lead to an outright purchase of the shares in these companies. The industry sources said the bidder that the Metro Pacific group, led by businessman Michael V. Pangelinan, has been conducting a due-diligence audit on the P10-billion assets. Other sources said the group could have entered the deal to get the first crack at when the government privatizes MTRC 3.

State-owned Development Bank of the Philippines and Land Bank of the Philippines earlier acquired a controlling interest in MTRC 3 by accumulating equity in said debt paper.

AGI reports 63% surge in net profit

By David E. Chandler

TYGON ANDREW Tack's Alliance Global Group Inc. responded to nine-month earnings volatility by announcing that the company will cut its 2003 dividend by 50 percent to $0.25 per share from a year ago on a discretionary basis, to conserve cash and conserve shareholders.

Including net income attributable to ordinary investors, ATG's consolidated net income for January is expected to be around $1.5 million, or 25 cents per share, compared to $3.0 million, or 50 cents per share, in the same period last year. This was on the back of consolidated revenue of about $13.5 million during the nine-month period, or about 27 percent from the same period last year, the company said in its disclosure.

ALT's property and life insurance Corp. contributed 42 percent to earnings net of minority interest, while natural estate businesses consisting of residential food and beverage and integrated content projects accounted for 38 percent.

"All our business units are doing well," said A&E chief financial officer Dana Brink, noting that one of the company's sub-units, Megaworld and Tempstar (the filters, are now the most profitable in their respective markets).

The combined cash position of the three oil businesses ended the 2004 group reached $14.1 billion as a result of higher operating efficiency, the disclosure said.

of MRTT, which is cited in the disclosure that it entered into an agreement with PFI, Inc. as the promotor of a "strategic" relationship. In an earlier report, the Philippine government is quoted as saying the MRTT "is a system and structure that the value for an efficient mass transit system will be realized within 10 years and the year of the Metropolitan" (including the linkage to MRTT 3 Phase 2—could be realized).

The transaction involved, among other things, the appointment of new directors to the MRTT 3 companies, the sale of shares, and the relationship between MRTT and the government under the local transit transfer agreement covering the MRTT 3 Phase 2. The disclosure also stated:

Older adults, retirees are a growing fitness market

Piloxing (Pilates and boxing) and other top trends for 2011

By Wick Polpo-Mendoza
 Contributor

HERE ARE THE top health and fitness trends for 2011, based on the results of a weeklong survey among American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) certified professionals. These are the personal trainers, health fitness specialists, clinical exercise specialists, registered clinical exercise physiologists, health/fitness directors and program directors.

Educated and experienced fitness professionals

Adult fitness classes are becoming more popular as more people are becoming more health conscious. More fitness professionals will focus on people of intermediate age, both the athletic and sedentary type. The services of the elderly group will have more time and focus to offer fitness.

More fitness centers will hire certified fitness professionals to ensure quality service and to attract competitive in the growing fitness market.

In 2011, make it a habit to ask for your trainer's credentials, training, experience and areas of specialization, to get updated on the latest fitness trends, and enjoy safe and effective quality workouts.

Fitness programs for older adults

Fitness is not only for those striving for weight loss or higher fitness levels. More fitness professionals will focus on people of intermediate age, both the athletic and sedentary type. The services of the elderly group will have more time and focus to offer fitness.

It's just one of retirement age. It's time to make arrangements with a qualified fitness professional. Most personal trainers can visit you at home. Special fitness programs for older adults should be conducted by a fitness center, with training and certification in exercise science and physical rehabilitation.

Strength training

More and more types of strength training equipment and styles of training are getting popular each year to address the needs of busy people. The resistance isometric, does it at least twice a week of weight training, targeting major muscle groups to be able to improve or maintain one's strength, to avoid injuries, to improve fitness performance, and to improve body composition or fat loss.

For 2011, incorporate strength training in your workout. A recent study published in PLoS ONE shows that you don't really need a lot of heavy weights to build muscle. Light weights but with more repetitions, in the form of fatigue, will have effects as significant as lifting heavier weights.

Children and obesity

The serious problem of worldwide childhood obesity is a growing concern in the health and fitness industry that efforts will be given to provide exercise programs for growing kids.

One of the American Council on Exercise (ACE) top fitness trends is youth fitness. Schools will offer more fitness and nutrition education.

ANSWER: On 24 August 1964, the 21st squadron was disbanded and its members were reassigned to other units. The 21st squadron was the only unit in the 21st Air Division that was not a combat unit. It was a support unit that provided administrative and logistical support to the other units of the 21st Air Division. The 21st Air Division was a major command of the United States Air Force in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam War. It was responsible for the air operations of the 21st Air Force, which was the main US Air Force command in the region. The 21st Air Division was composed of several major commands, including the 21st Bombardment Wing, the 21st Fighter Wing, and the 21st Tactical Fighter Wing. The 21st Air Division was also responsible for the air operations of the 21st Air Force's subordinate units, including the 21st Air Support Group, the 21st Air Transport Group, and the 21st Air Medical Group. The 21st Air Division was a key component of the US Air Force's strategy in Southeast Asia, and it played a major role in the war against North Vietnam.
